CAPTURE

LAW ENFORCEMENT PHOTO COMPETITION

Europol's annual photo competition has been encouraging law enforcement colleagues across the EU and beyond to share their photographic highlights with us since its launch in 2009.

Entries come from a wide variety of law enforcement agencies, such as police, customs, border guards and security services, and each year a growing number of talented photographers submit striking and artistic images from their work places.

A selection of these images can be seen in Europol publications, most notably Making Europe safer, and on display at Europol headquarters in The Hague.

The competition is open to professional and amateur photographers working for law enforcement agencies and law enforcement magazines in EU countries and those with Europol Agreements.

This has brought remarkable entries from as far afield as Australia and Colombia, in addition to more familiar European law enforcement scenes.

Winners of the 2019 law enforcement photo competition:

The prize in the category of "Diversity and Inclusion" is awarded to Giovanni D'Amico from Italy. This warm shot taken in Turin, Italy, shows how inclusion is taking the time to get to know each other.

The prize in the category of "Making Europe Safer" is awarded to Peter Monteny from the Netherlands. In this picture, Dutch police officers are keeping an eye on the crowd at Utrecht Central Station. Making people, including children, feel safe.

The prize in the category of "Making Europe Safer" is awarded to David Mendiboure from France. This dog from the French National Police is trained to detect explosives. He is pictured here with his handler securing a site.
