The EU's Agency for Law Enforcement Cooperation Europol and the European Union Intellectual Property Office (EUIPO) have today formally signed an agreement to further increase cooperation in fighting infringements of intellectual property rights, both online and offline.

Europol and the EUIPO have been collaborating since 2013 on a range of issues. In 2016, they stepped up their cooperation to create the Intellectual Property Crime Coordinated Coalition \(IPC3\), a specialist unit within Europol funded by the EUIPO.

Since its inception, the IPC3 unit has coordinated and supported cross-border operations aimed at tackling IP crime across the EU. The unit's operations have spanned sectors like pharmaceuticals, food and drinks, pesticides, counterfeit luxury goods, clothing, electronics, car parts, toys and illegal streaming. In total, counterfeit goods valued over EUR 980 million have been seized.

In addition, over a hundred organised crime groups have been identified and/or dismantled as a result of the unit's work. The investigations coordinated by the IPC3 have also linked IP crime to the health and safety of consumers, drug trafficking, tax evasion, fraud and terror financing.
